Enrollment

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

>> Enrollment

On this page, enter the number of candidates for an initial teaching credential who are enrolled in the initial teacher preparation programs within your institution of higher education (IHE) or organization. Do not report on the total number of students enrolled in the entire IHE. Do not include individuals who currently hold a teaching credential and are seeking additional licenses or endorsements, or individuals preparing for school-based careers other than classroom teachers (e.g., administrators, guidance counselors).

The Department recognizes that in many cases, candidates voluntarily report their race/ethnicity and gender data, and that in some cases, candidates may choose not to report this information. Please report on the race/ethnicity data you have available, though the data may not be complete. It is not expected that the sum of the enrolled students reported by race/ethnicity or by gender will necessarily equal the total number of students enrolled.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the candidates enrolled in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the candidates enrolled in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the candidates enrolled in the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the enrollment data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Enrollment

For the purpose of Title II reporting, an enrolled student is defined as a student who has been admitted to a teacher preparation program, but who has not completed the program during the academic year being reported. An individual who completed the program during the academic year being reported is counted as a program completer and not an enrolled student.

Provide the number of students in the teacher preparation program in the following categories. Note that you must report on the number of students by ethnicity and race separately. Individuals who are non-Hispanic/Latino will be reported in one of the race categories. Also note that individuals can belong to one or more racial groups, so the sum of the members of each racial category may not necessarily add up to the total number of students enrolled. Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2014-15. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Program Completers

On this page, enter the total number of individuals who completed the program in AY 2014-15 and the two prior academic years. If you submitted an IPRC last year, the number of program completers for the two prior academic years are pre-loaded from your prior year's report.

A program completer is a person who has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program. Program completers include all those who are documented as having met such requirements. Documentation may take the form of a degree, institutional certificate, program credential, transcript or other written proof of having met the program's requirements. In applying this definition, the fact that an individual has or has not been recommended to the state for initial certification or licensure may not be used as a criterion for determining who is a program completer.

An individual cannot be classified as both enrolled and as a program completer at the same time. An enrolled individual is not a program completer. Once an individual has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program and becomes a program completer, the individual is no longer classified as enrolled.

After entering the program completers, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

8. Describe your institution's most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:

Teacher-candidates are immersed in school-based field experiences throughout the curriculum, starting with foundations courses taken in the first and second year at SU. An extensive network of professional development schools in place for more than 10 years, allows SU to partner with 34 schools in seven counties. Teacher-candidates are placed with supportive teacher-mentors (most who have had mentor training from SU) who scaffold their induction to the profession. All teacher-candidates learn to plan and deliver lessons consistent with the Maryland State Curriculum including Common Core. The Professional Development School internship experience at SU is extensive and intensive, consisting of 100 days of teaching over two consecutive semesters. Under carefully screened and trained mentor teachers, interns experience every aspect of teacher responsibility. SU's internship program is unique in featuring a co-teaching model that emphasizes the skill set of professional collaboration in addition to the traditional and standards-based aspects of teacher preparation. The co-teaching model has allowed school leaders to welcome interns eagerly in this era of high stakes accountability, rather than fearing the loss of involvement by their mentor teachers that was customary in the traditional student teaching arrangement. By insisting that mentors remain engaged in instruction throughout the internship, P-12 students benefit from the combined efforts of two teachers while interns acquire enhanced skills in differentiated instruction and collaboration. Prospective teachers must successfully complete course work in inclusion. Components of this course for all Salisbury University education candidates includes an overview of US special education laws, High/low incidence disability subgroups, other exceptionalities and needs such as Gifted & Talented, identification processes, and research-based inclusive classroom practices. Through structured field experiences, SU candidates collaborate with classroom teachers, special education teachers, and other service providers. Clinical study of a child with an Individualized Education Plan that includes instructional activities designed by candidates is required. Candidates are assessed on a lesson plan that focuses on accommodations and adaptations for specific special needs in the inclusive classroom. Salisbury University is located on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. Overall the public schools that SU partners with serve P-12 students who are low-income, diverse, and rural. SU teacher education candidates have a minimum of four field experiences in these schools prior to full-time clinical experience. TESOL methods, culturally relevant course materials, and language proficiency is introduced to all education candidates in early education foundations classes and integrated into more advanced classes as candidates matriculate through the program. Field experience assignments are directed toward ELL students and candidates reflect on variety of issues that impact student learning. While, the city of Salisbury would not be considered urban, the schools where SU candidates are placed for field experiences, however, face many of the same issues as urban schools, i.e., poverty, gang related violence, high crime neighborhoods, teen pregnancy, high dropout rates etc. Through introductory coursework and multiple field experiences SU candidates are challenged by issues related to urban and low socioeconomic challenges.

All teacher education candidates in Maryland must successfully meet the Maryland Teacher Technology Standards (MTTS). Through a variety of course experiences including a Computers in Education course, candidates are assessed on a variety of tasks that support the seven MTTS. The standards include performance based assessments that assess the ability of education candidates to demonstrate competence in the following: Standard I: Technology Information Access, Evaluation, Processing and Application Access, evaluate, and process information efficiently and effectively Standard II: Communication Use technology effectively and appropriately to interact electronically. Use technology to communicate information in a variety of formats. Standard III: Legal, Social and Ethical Issues Demonstrate an understanding of the legal, social, and ethical issues related to technology use. Standard IV: Assessment for Administration and Instruction Use technology to analyze problems and develop data-driven solutions for instructional and school improvement. Standard V: Integrating Technology into the Curriculum and Instruction Design, implement and assess learning experiences that incorporate use of technology in the curriculum-related instructional activity to support understanding, inquiry, problem-solving, communication or collaboration. Standard VI: Assistive Technologies Understand human, equity, and developmental issues surrounding the use of assistive technology to enhance student learning performance and apply that understanding to practice. Standard VII: Professional Growth Develop professional practices that support continual learning and professional growth in technology By meeting the MTTS education candidates must learn to integrate technology using multiple formats including: audio, video, and the Internet into educational settings. A variety of assignments across the program required candidates to demonstrate the use of technology appropriate strategies. For example, virtual manipulatives and digital storytelling are among several of the technology skills that learned to allow candidates to demonstrate content specific concepts. Candidates are exposed to interactive whiteboards and learn how to use this technology for both teaching and learning.
