

SU 2025 Middle States Self-Study

The Middle States Self-Study is a more than two-year long process through which SU must demonstrate its commitment to continuous improvement and self-evaluation. During the Self-Study, we will demonstrate that SU:

- engages in a careful analysis of institutional priorities selected in the interest of identifying mission-related areas of improvement,
- responds actively to challenges,
- identifies and adopts innovative practices to achieve its institutional mission,
- adapts to changes in the higher education sector to best serve students and society more readily.

Through the Self-Study process, SU must provide evidence that we are in compliance with Middle States' seven Standards for Accreditation and Requirements of Affiliation.

Important Dates

- November 6, 2024: Visiting Team Chair Preliminary Visit
 During this one-day visit, Dr. Wells will review our draft Self-Study, meet with various campus constituents, review our evidence for sufficiency, and provide feedback on the draft report.
- March 2-5, 2025: Full Team Visit
 The Self-Study Visiting Team will arrive on Sunday, March 2. During their three-day visit, they will:
 - meet with various campus constituents,
 - ask questions and collect feedback related to the Standards, and
 - review evidence we've provided to determine if SU is in compliance with the Middle States Standards for Accreditation.
 On the morning of Wednesday, March 5, Dr. Wells will address campus in an open meeting where she will provide a brief summary of the Visiting Team's findings. A formal written report will be sent shortly thereafter, detailing the Team's findings on each of the seven Standards and Requirements of Affiliation. A copy of the report will be provided to SU and Middle States.
- May-June 2025
 The Middle States Commission will take accreditation action based on the Visiting Team's report. During this meeting, Middle States will determine if SU is in compliance with all seven Standards and the Requirements of Affiliation and if any follow-up actions are necessary.
